EUISS YEARBOOK OF EUROPEAN SECURITY

The European Union Institute for Security Studies (EUISS) is the Union's agency dealing with the analysis of foreign, security and defence policy issues. The Institute was set up in January 2002 as an autonomous agency under the Common Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP) [Council Joint Action 2001/554, amended by Council Joint Action 2006/1002] to foster a common security culture for the EU, support the elaboration and projection of its foreign policy, and enrich the strategic debate inside and outside Europe. The Institute's core mission is to provide analyses and fora for discussion that can be of use and relevance to the formulation of EU policy. In carrying out that mission, it also acts as an interface between European experts and decision-makers at all levels.

Foreword

Since its inception and over the years, the EUISS has come to be appreciated for providing both practitioners and academics at all levels with regular yearly collections of official documents concerning, in particular, the early development and implementation of the Union's European Security and Defence Policy (ESDP). Those 'Core documents' (vols. I-XI) soon became part and parcel of the toolbox of the still fledgling EU 'security community'.

This Yearbook of European Security (YES) intends to build on that tradition while offering its readers a richer menu of food for thought. Alongside a collection of relevant documents, the Yearbook includes a chronology of pertinent facts and a selection of relevant figures that, taken together, are intended to present a more comprehensive picture of what the EU has done (and how) in the security policy domain over the previous year – or years, as YES 2013 exceptionally covers both 2011 and 2012, with a view to completing the annual series launched as far back as 2001.

Furthermore, the Yearbook will offer mental maps, so to speak. This year's map will cover the way in which (and the extent to which) governments across the world have developed 'strategic' thinking, i.e. functions, activities and even permanent centres devoted to analysing long-term trends at the global level and their policy implications. A broad historical overview is complemented by a few case studies, a broad typology of models of foresight conducted in various countries, and some tentative conclusions.

Acknowledgements

The Institute is indebted to the following people and would like to thank them for their valuable contributions to YES 2013: Carole Richard for working on the documents, Maria Di Loreto for working on the timelines, Christian Dietrich for his work on the timelines, core documents and votes, and Hadrien-Laurent Goffinet for compiling and drafting the EU security policy toolbox: facts and figures chapter.

Yet this first volume of the EUISS Yearbook would have never materialised without the dedication, competence and professionalism that Philip Worré infused in it by coordinating the whole team, in association with the internal staff, and assembling all the pieces of this new puzzle while meeting very tight deadlines. This has been all the more remarkable as he achieved all that while still acting as Executive Director of ISIS Europe in Brussels, thus juggling different tasks (and locations) with consummate skill.
