

EUISS and the Munich Security Conference sign MoU

---

Press release

---

On 16 November 2017, the European Union Institute for Security Studies (EUISS) and the Munich Security Conference (MSC) signed a Memorandum of Understanding. The MSC is the major global forum for the discussion of security policy and it regularly convenes high-profile events and publishes major reports. The EUISS is the European Union's agency dealing with the analysis of foreign, security and defence policy issues. The EUISS supports the elaboration and projection of the EU's foreign, security and defence policies through its regular analysis and conferences.

The Memorandum of Understanding cements the partnership between the two organisations and it aims to provide a basis for future collaboration centred around the organisation of joint events, shared expertise and dialogue and possible joint publications. Taking into account the relevant responsibilities and added-value of each organisation, the partners are beginning their collaboration with an official side-event at the Munich Security Conference 2018 focusing on strategic foresight and the recently published EUISS 'What If...' Report.

For more information, please contact john-joseph.wilkins@iss.europa.eu or lewicki@securityconference.de